COLUMBUS DAY 2016

OCTOBER tenth, to be exact. The date was so important that an unknown member of the Gabuzzo family soon to be known as Milk Dud, wrote it down in a diary the following day. Why? Because that day, far from home, frustrated by the news of Hillary and Donny, cruising the net and fidgeting from Milk Dud withdrawal, Dud had replayed the White Iverson SOB video from the year before so many times as to be hoarse in the throat. And yet it wasn't the same as the Godfather singing Carmello Zapullo and cooking up a meal on the backyard grill. The realness just somehow gave way under your feet, as if the spirit had turned into selfie smoke and drifted away. What Milk Dud needed was soul, and bad.

THE ORIGINAL GANGSTAS

It being Colombus day, OGs Couple Two Tree were out on bail after a "grand theft gran turismo obbligatto community service" hearing, In honor of deep sea fishing magnate and Cornish Pirate mercenary Cristoforo Colombo, the court had had mercy on the boys, and they had been instructed by their probation officer that they better drop the rhymes if they didn't want to do the time. Judge Orazio Orazione "bricks" specific words were, "whazzamatta u? Gotta no respect?" and defense attorney Tony Necktie held a press conference in which he said, the judge is cool, he "gets it". So the OGS happened to be cueing some soul for a Sunday night catechism slot, but Milk Dud had no idea of this, and had not been to Paco's church in a long while.

FRANKIE V

Frankie V, general manager of the Lot radio and Friend of San Damiano Gabuzzo Mission, had heeded the words of Pope "mate head" Francis Gabuzzo, who periodically appeared on the balcony of an ancient pizza oven fortress and advised all soul brothers and sisters to "dance the tarantella wherever you are, and buon pranzo." Frankie had agreed to "be responsible" for Alston and Joe and to make sure they didn't hotwire any muscle cars in Williamsburg or Greenpoint. Boosting Bugattis with the Gabuzzo Brothers, and Biker Bobs recidivism avoidance program, thus dates to this historic holiday weekend, (which if you are a fan of Juan Diego, you will note is also the 50th anniversary of the consecration of the biggest church anybody ever saw in Mexico City.) Amen. Allelujah.
